Riding the Rails to Vancouver, BC

Whether traveling by train to Vancouver from the US or another Canadian province, your rail destination will be Vancouver - Pacific Central Station, BC (VAC).

Google Maps UK: 1150 Station St, Vancouver, BC V6A 4C7, Canada

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Pacific\_Central\_Station

Canadian Twilighters should visit the Wikipedia article below to learn of the various passenger train companies available in the country.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/List\_of\_Canadian\_railways#Passenger\_railways

Your best bet will probably be VIA Rail Canada.

US Twilighters living in the state of New York also may find the VIA Rail website helpful.

"VIA Rail has partnered with Amtrak to make your trip planning simpler. By increasing our connectivity with other modes, we're facilitating seamless door-to-door travel. At the same time, we're reducing car congestion and helping to build a healthy transportation ecosystem from coast to coast.

All other US Twilighters can simply pop to the Amtrak website to book their rail journey.
